

The Staffordshire region has had a number of new health centres built by Primary Care Trusts in the last couple of years and PAS have successfully carried out contracts in several sites across the area. Working closely with the consultants at the outset, we developed PA and background music systems for the sites which allow staff to communicate around the buildings. Each centre has a system tailored specifically to their needs which creates a relaxed atmosphere with music.

Staff can summon patients and colleagues easily via microphones at the department receptions.

Working with various electrical and main contractors, PAS met all deadlines and timescales on the projects and delivered effective systems on time. We also provided audio induction loop systems for the hard of hearing at various points in each building.
